SOS - Seal or Sink

Is it worth taking the risk of not having an SOS onboard?

Three simple facts to consider

- Shaft seals are one of the least maintained items on shaft driven vessels
- Boats that sit in boat slips for extended periods of time are the most at risk
- Once a shaft seal fails, the influx of water can quickly sink your boat if the bilge pumps are not able to keep up with the volume of gushing water

Read that all her your boat that just might save your life.
